Knik Goose Bay Elementary was a design-build, fast-track project, completed in 12 months. Construction began the fall of 2006 with an operating school on the same site. Unit Company was able to complete this project, including winter season structural work, while still providing the owner with $3.5 million in cost savings compared to their previous prototypical design. This cost savings allowed the Mat-Su Borough extra funds for Unit Company to provide a solution to the parking and traffic flow of both the new and existing school by redesigning the site and upgrading the state of Alaska road servicing both schools.
